FORTH PROPERTIES RECRUITS NEW HEAD OF DEVELOPMENT

The property division of Forth Ports PLC, has recruited Stewart Macintyre as its new head of development. He will join the Edinburgh-based company later this summer.

Macintyre currently holds the UK-wide position of head of sales and development with National Grid, an organisation he has served for nearly 17 years. Based in Basingstoke, part of his current remit is the role of project director for National Grid's Forth Quarter development on the Edinburgh waterfront.

In his new role with Forth Ports, Macintyre will report to Forth Properties managing director, Nathan Thompson and work with the team in their on-going development of Western Harbour and Leith Docks. His initial focus will be on the masterplanning of the Hub, a 35 acre site which is the commercial centre of the Leith Docks development.

Nathan Thompson, managing director of Forth Property Developments said: "Stewart has a wealth of property development experience across the UK and also a firm understanding of the vision for Edinburgh's waterfront from his close involvement in the Forth Quarter site. I'm delighted to welcome him to the team and look forward to working with him on our developments."
